

Each year The Arc of High Point <http://www.arcofhp.org/> holds its major fundraiser WingFest at the Piedmont Triad Farmers Market in Colfax (I-40 Sandy Ridge Road exit). The Arc of High Point is a nonprofit, United Way funded agency that serves people with intellectual and developmental disabilities. We would greatly appreciate you helping us to publicize our event.

WingFest 2013 will take place from 10 AM to 2 PM on June 15. The event is a free to enter but the public can purchase wings, soft drinks and other food items from restaurants from around the Triad who are competing for the best wings and sauces in several different categories. Winners are chosen through a blind judging process. The public also chooses the People's Choice Award winner.

Festivities include:

10:35 AM - A performance by Channing & Quinn, a Nashville-based Americana/folk/vaudeville act. <http://www.channingandquinn.com/>

Noon - Chicken Dance Contests (two $25 cash awards)

12:20 PM - A performance by Jaxon Jill, a rock band playing hits from the 70s, 80s, 90s. <http://www.myspace.com/jaxonjill>

1:25 PM - Lord of the Wings, and eating contest for the public at 1:25 PM. If you think you can eat the most wings in one minute please sign up to compete for $100 cash by contacting Stephanie Antkowskia at stephaniearchp@gmail.com

Other activities include a children's funland area consisting of an inflatable/bounce house, games and other fun activities. KC Hobby of Archdale, NC will be on site to provide remote control demonstrations of helicopters and ground vehicles, and a static display of airplanes. Radio Active of Danville, VA will have a flight simulator and a Wake Forest Baptist Health Life Flight helicopter will be on display. Forsyth Technical Community College's Richard Childress Race Car Technology Program will have a race car on display.
